Concealed Wreckers-Seeing Their Plot Foiled, No Violenced Attempted-Passengers

Officers and detectives look upon the railway train murderer and robber as the most brutal of all criminals. He is cowardly and cunning and his soul revels in murderous desires. Unlike the highwayman who comes face to face with his victim, and gives him a chance for his life, the train robber, delib-erately and in cold blood, goes to work and erately and in cold blood, goes to work and lays his plans to murder hundreds of innosays his plans to murder hundreds of inno-cent men, women and children that he may secure a little plunder. He coolly wrecks a train in the dead of night, when he knows that it is loaded with sleeping men, women and babies, and while some of his their places. As the train got under headway some violent talk sounded from the brush.

The train reached Rosemond in a few minutes, and the section boss was found at the station. He breathed a sigh of relief when the train hove in sight. He told the conductor how one of his track-walkers was starting out late in the evening, and as he neared the point where the obstruction had been placed by the wreckers, he noticed seven or eight men placing cross-ties on the track. The men were all armed and he kept out of their sight. It was on this information that the section boss sent his dispatches, and by so doing valuable lives were probably saved, as the obstruction was placed on such a rugged spot that the train would have been knocked into kindling wood had a collision occurred.

The officers are of the opinion that the robbers believed the train contained a large party of armed men when it stopped, and for that reason they did not attempt to capture it. Had the conductor been able to leave the train with enough men to make a light against the train-robbers, he would have attempted to capture them, as they were concealed in the brush near the track, as their volces proved when the train pulled out. The railroad people in this city were as reticent as possible vesterday, and the thing was so quietly worked that even the passengers did not know how near they were to death.

Officers have been sent out to the spot where the train was stopped, and every effort will be made to capture the wreckers. their places. As the train got under head-way some violent talk sounded from the

LEVY IN LIMBO.

The Keeper of a Notorious Fence Inducted.

M. Levy, who runs a dirty-looking second-hand store on Upper Main street, and has been in the habit of getting stolen goods for the owners if well paid for his trouble, had a little taste of Grand Jury yesterday. He was indicted for receiving stolen goods, and Deputy Sheriff Charles Cruz placed him under arrest at 12 o'clock. Levy was placed under $2,000 bail, in default of which he was sent to the County Jail. He is an English Jew and has a hard face. The police have had their eyes on him for some time, but they have been unable to get him in a corner. He was seen by a Times reporter at his cell door in the County Jail last night, and questioned, but he would not give his friends, the thieves away, although it is a well-known fact that he could but his hand on every thief in the city if he was so disposed.

RUNAWAYS.

A Number of Escapades that Made Things Lively.

The number of runaways has not de-creased any. There was one on North Main street, about half-past 8 o'clock yesterday morning, in which a roadcart was somewhat sulpitared up and the shorts.

splintered up and the shafts kicked out of it by the horse that ran away with it. by the horse that ran away with it.

Yesterday evening, about 6 o'clock, some boys scared a horse belonging to Hop Lee, a Chinese laundryman, on Wilhington street, causing it to run away and upset the street, causing it to run away and upset the wagon to which it was attached. Hop Lee had the good sense to jump out when he found his steed beyond his control and so escaped injury. A comical feature of this runaway was that when the wagon was upset and the horse thrown down, a man ran to the animal's head and stood there until Hop put in an appearance. The man then demanded &? for stopping the horse, and this the Chinaman paid without reflecting that the horse having been overturned with the wagon did not need stopping.

recting that the horse maving oeen overturned with the wagon did not need stopping.

Yesterday afternoon a Chinese wagon was snashed into kindling wood on Los Angeles and Wilmington streets. A couple of frisky mustangs were attached to the wagon, and, not liking the way the lines were handled by the heathen, they started off on the dead run. When the wagon went to pieces, the Chinaman bounded fifteen feet in the air and came down on his head. He got up, shook himself like a dog, and ejaculated: "Dam bad horsee!" He was not even scratched.

A fine team of horses, attached to a brick wagon, got it into their heads that their driver did not understand his business, as he attempted to turn them down Second street, at the corner of Fort, about 5 o'clock last evening. They began to kick and were soon flying down Second street without they wagon. On the corner of Spring and Second they ran into a telegraph pole and came to a sudden standstill. When they picked themselves up they were too badly bruised to run, so they let their driver lead them off.

The Man Who Ran Over Arthur Stephens, Himself Run Over.
Erny Eberhardt is certainly very unlucky as regards his driving. Last Monday morning the team which he was driving ran over and caused the death of little Arthur Stephens and the statement of the statement phens—the circumstances of which are yet fresh in the minds of the readers of The TIMES. Last evening at about 6:45 Eberhardt was driving his team along Mott alley, where he had been hauling dirt during the day. As had been hauling dirt during the day. As he arrived at the corner of Second street and Mott alley the kingbolt, by some means, came out, and the forward portion of the wagon became detached. Eberhardt was thrown forward and the horses started to run. The driver pluckily held on to the team until they reached the southwest corner of Spring and Second streets, where, in his endeavors to check the now thoroughly frightened animals, he was thrown down, the horses passing over his body. The runaways then dashed in the direction of Goulter's store, and wou'd have succeeded in at least demolishing the large show windows in front of that establishment had not one of the animals fallen. Even yet it was found impossible to stop them. Upon the horse that had fallen regaining his feet, the span rushed madly across the street, landing in front of a variety store and destroying articles in the stove line which were displayed on the sidewalk. Here they were captured. Eberhart is not severely injured, though he is considerably shaken up. One of the forses is badly bruised and skinned on his sifte and hips.

Taking into consideration the many pedestrians on the street at that time of the evening, it is a great wonder that no one was hurt. After getting the team hitched up again the driver continued on toward home, though both driver and horses looked he arrived at the corner of Second street

SAN GABRIEL RAPID TRANSIT.

The New Electric Railway Company Organized.

The promoters of the new electric railway line, to be built between Alhambra and this city, met at the Board of Trade rooms yesterday. There were present J. de Barth Shorb, Col. J. R. Dobbins, A. Phillips, Shorb, Col. J. R. Doboths, A. Frillips, James M. Tierman, A. C. Weeks H. W. Stanton, Rev. Charles Shelling, W. N. Monroe, Mr. Lampert, Mr. Williams, H. A. Uuruh, C. T. Adams, Hon. J. J. Gosper, George Rice and several others.

After the directors had organized and transacted some preliminary business the stockholders held a meeting, with J. de Barth Shorb in the chair and George Rice Barth Shorb in the characteristics officiating as secretary.

Mr. Shorb stated that two gentlemen, Messrs. Bishop and Rice, who went East to examine the different systems of rapid transit. after a careful and thorough into examine the different systems of rapid transit, after a careful and thorough investigation, had reported that the Fisher system of electric roads was a complete success, and that no steam system could compete with it. The company in question had had their system adopted in San José and Santa Clara. Mr. Shorb stated that he would guarantee that the electric part of the road would be put in by the Electric Company at its own expense, and no payment would be asked for it until its success should be assured. He further stated that the board of directors had determined to adopt the name coming from and adopted by the stockholders, viz.: the San Gabriel Rapid Transit Company.

On motion the directors were instructed to proceed as rapidly as possible with the construction of the line, and the details were all left to them.

Mr. Shorb notified that Col. Markham had resigned from the directory, for good reasons, and Mr. Gilchrist had been substituted.

Big" Burns and Jack McDonald Indicted for Perjury.

C. Bich, Capper for a Brace Game, Cap-tured as He was About to Cash an IIlegally Gained Check for

The Grand Jury and the Sheriff's office did some good work yesterday. During the past two weeks Detective Emil Harris has been working for the Sheriff and Chief of Police at Santa Monica, and he is confident that he has about broken up the nest of thieves and gamblers at that place. He started the ball to rolling day before yes-terday by arresting "Big" Burns, one of the best-known crroks on the Pacific Coast and best-known crooks on the Pacific Coast, and Jack McDonald. The two men are the managers of the famous shell swindling company that has been exposed in these columns so often during the past few months. Harris succeeded in getting the rascals "dead to rights," and he and Under Shoriff Mitchell cuttly slipped down and Sheriff Mitchell quietly slipped down and placed them under arrest. The men made an attempt to escape, but the officers were a placed them under arrest. The men made an attempt to escape, but the officers were a little too quick for them, and the ring-leaders—the only ones the officers wanted—were bagged. They were lodged in the County Jail, and seemed to be perfectly happy until yesterday noon, when they were informed that the Grand Jury was after them for perjury. They were arrested by Major Mitchell, by order of the Grand Jury, and each was placed under $2000 bail, which they failed to give. The charges consist of faise swearing in the farcical trials, which were fully reported in The TIMES. Burns is an old State's prison bird and bears a very hard name, and McDonald is not far behind him. Both men have been carrying things with a high hand and have had a string of petit larceny thieves and cutthroats at their heels, and the officers have made up their minds to wipe the gang out if they have to arrest every hard-looking citizen in the country.

L. C. Ruch, another one of the gang, was arrested yesterday for running a green citzen against a "brace" faro layout to the tune of $25 in cash and a $300 check on the Los Angeles National Bank. Harris learned that Rich would attempt to cash the check yesterday morning, and when the bank opened Mitchell took his stand inside and Harris shadowed the door. Pretty soon Ab Gentry and Rich put in an appearance. Gentry walked in and was about to cash the draft when Mitchell pounced down on him. Harris captured Rich on the outside. Rich was held in $500 ball and Gentry, who had nothing to do with the affair and did not know how the check was obtained, was discharged.

When Harris first put in an appearance of Santa Morlies, and bezant to work the

Now the cheek was considered.

When Harris first put in an appearance at Santa Monica and began to work the case, the thieves approached him and did all in their power to buy him off, but he held out against their honeyed offers and will probably succeed in sending them to the State's Prison for a long term of years.

Officer Bosqui Says Marshai Earp Did Not Catch Gormlee. Officer Bosqui, who was sent after the man captured in San Bernardino by Mar-shal Earp, and supposed to be Gormlee, the ravisher of little Maggie Switzer, returned early yesterday morning. Bosqui says he did not bring the man, for the reason that did not bring the man, for the reason that he was satisfied that he was not the culprit, although he had the exact marks on the arms that decorate Gormlee, and he arswered the description in everything except that he was about two inches shorter than Gormlee. A report has gained currency to the effect that the officers have really captured Gormlee, but are keeping the matter quiet, for the reason that they fear he will be taken out and hanged if the people learn where he is. Earp was telephoned to yesterday, but nothing definite could be gotten out of him.

The outraged child was resting easy last night, but she is not out of danger yet.

ANOTHER BURGLAR PINCHED. He is Found Squandering His Ill-Gotten Wealth.

Manuel Lopez last Tuesday night entered the room of Uiquidez, at a French lodging house on Aliso street, appropriated $19 in silver, a pistol and a watch and departed. The transaction was witnessed by an old Frenchman, but he was too much frightened to interpose, and did not meddle with the doings of Mr. Lopez. He took so much interest in the man, however, that he was enabled to give a perfect description of him, and Deputy Constable Altamirano captured him on Upper Main street. The prisoner had none of the valuables on him when brought to the County Jail. He evidently had been enjoying himself on the proceeds of his ill-gotten gains, for he was in a glorious state of inebriety when found. Manuel Lopez last Tuesday night

BAD ACCIDENT.

A Boy Has His Leg Crushed in a Printing Press.
Yesterday a little boy, who was running a press for Sprague & Rodehaver, at No. 37 South Fort street, got his leg caught in the machinery, and it was horribly mangled. Almost all of the flesh was torn from the poor little fellow's leg. He suffered great pain, but bore it like a little man, while the doctor dressed his wound. He was taken home, and was resting as easy as could be expected when last heard from.

The Woolen Mills Threatened.
At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon an alarm of fire was turned in from Olive and Sixth streets, caused by the burning of dry grass in the grounds of the woolen mills. For a while it looked as if the fire would reach some of the houses in the neighborhood, but a number of citizens and several police officers turned out and checked it before any damage was done.

A Little Blaze.

This morning, at about 7 o'clock, an alarm was turned in by telephone for a fire in a lodging-house, 141 East First street. It proved to be of little consequence, and was extinguished by Fireman Barry, of the Kuhrts' engine, assisted by men rooming an the premises with the ald of Babcock fire extinguishers. The damage was in the neighborhood of $50.

A STOLEN WATCH.

the Thief is Overhauled.

Eight or nine months ago Col. Milier was robbed of a watch and chain, together with $750 in coin. The robbery took place at the corner of Main and Second streets, and it was for a long time shrouded in mystery as to who the perpetrator of the theft was. Officer Botello was given the case to work up, and has assiduously kept it in hand ever since.

About three months ago the watch was recovered by Col. Miller himself, in Uncle Joseph's pawnshop, in rather a peculiar manner. Col. Miller entered Joseph's store one day, and pretending that he wished to make a trade for a watch, got a chance to view the stock on hand. He luckily espled his chronometer among the goods in the show window. With the assistance of Capt. Tyler, Miller entered suit for the recovery of the watch, and through a mistake of Joseph, in not getting around on time, judgment was given by default to Miller. All this time every kind of trap was laid for the robber of the watch and money, but without avail. Botello remained at the postoffice fer days in the hope that a man, who he suspected had a kand in the matter, would turn up, but the bird was not to be so easily plucked. Decoy letters and postals were sent him, and in one instance he is known to kave taken a postal card out of the postoffice, but he returned it, saying it was not his address. The work of chasing the man down still continued, however, until at last the case was laid at the door of an employé at one of the freight depots of this city.

Yesterday Botello applied for a warrant for the arrest of his man, but was informed that a warrant cannot issue until certain evidence in the possession of the officer is strengthened by the testimony of more witnesses.

Thus, after almost a year's work in the witnesses.

Thus, after almost a year's work in the search of the offender, he may be able to go free, from the fact that there is no one to positively identify him. The officer asserts that his case, though a circumstantial one, is of the strongest nature possible.

BIT HIS "ARRUM."

The "Difficulty" Fhat Pat Long Had with a "Horrus."

Yesterday noon a man named Hinton tied his horse, attached to a buggy, to a lamp post in front of the Philadelphia shoestore, and then leaving the rig, was absent about three hours. Meanwhile the horse had placed his fore feet on the sidewalk, bringing his head about the height of the heads of passers-by. Presently a big, fat Irishman, named Long, who halls from near Pasadena, and who, having transacted some business in town, was on his way to catch adena, and who, having transacted some business in town, was on his way to catch the train home, happened to pass along, munching a doughnut. The cake, or the plump arm of Long, attracted the horse's attention, and, probably feeling hungry, he reached forth and "bit me in me arrum," as the victim observed. All the mad in the Irishman rose at the attack of the horse, and lifting his immense brogan, he kicked the poor animal a terrible blow on the shoulder, fairly lifting it from the sidewalk. Not content with thus taking his revenge for the bite, Long went to Officer Weatherman and wanted him to arrest the owner of the horse, "fur kapin' a wicious horrus." The officer explained that he could not make any such arrest until complaint had been flied, and advised Long to find out the owner and have him arrested. At this Long to terribly excited and created much amusement for the crowd his brogue had gathered, swearing that he could see that the reason no arrest was made at his behest was the officers and the owners of the horse were "brothers uv the chip, begorra," and if they thought they "kud kape him frim havin'the law on the horrus that bit me arrum, ye'er jist mistaken; do ye mind that?" After losing his frain in his desire for revenge, Long waited around until he got the name of the owner of the horse, and then stating his intention of remaining in town until he had punished the man who kept a horse to bit people, he was finally induced to go off the street on a threat from the officer that he would arrest him if he did not clear out and not block the street any longer. business in town, was on his way to catch

Large Sales.

During the past few days Russell, Cox & Co. have made the following heavy sales of real estate to syndicates: A tract of 26 acres lying east of the river, opposite the Santa Fé depot, at $05,000. The surveyors are now at work on this tract platting it, and cement sidewalks will be laid on the whole tract. The firm also sold 80 acres near the racetrack at $48,000, which is soon to be subdivided, and a station on the new Baliona Raliroad is to be located on the grounds. The same firm sold last Tuesday a tract of 196 acres, adjoining the Nadeau vineyard tract, for the sum of $78,400, which will probable be subdivided and put upon the market in smaller tracts.

The Bricklayers.

The Bricklayers.

Tonight there is to be a special meeting of the Bricklayers' Union, the call for which, published yesterday, is very urgent, insisting that all the members must be present to transact important business. A TIMES reporter endeavored to discover from some of the principal men in the union what the objects of the meeting were, but the persons spoken to were very reticent, but allowed that the meeting was what the call stated it to be—a very important meeting. More than that they would not say.

A Big Buy.

E. F. Davis and W. L. Malcomson, of the Los Angeles and California Land Company, have purchased the Dr. Hagan property, comprising seventy-two acres on the southeast corner of Main and Jefferson streets. The price is $167,600, or $2300 ar acre. It is stated that this property changed hands two or three years ago for $18,000 and later for $75,000.

Go-Ahead Pasadena.

In the special election at Pasadena Tuesday, on the proposition to issue $192,000 in bonds for public improvements, 197 votes were cast, only two being negative. This were cast, only two being negative. This is about as near unanimity as an American election ever goes. Of the gross sum $162,000 will be devoted to a sewerage system, and $30,000 to the establishment of a fire department.

California Co-Operative Colony Lands. The California Coöperative Colony offer sale at $100 an acre a portion of its valuable lands in the Cerritos ranch, to those who wish lands in the Cerritos ranch, to those who wish to purchase such property before the prices are advanced still higher. The land is subdivided into tenacre lots. It is located in an artestan belt twelve miles from Los Angeles, with plenty of water, and is most desirable for all practical uses. Fertile soil, magnificent scenery, ocean breezes and pure water are prominent characteristics of the Colony tract. A railroad will soon be built through the tract and townsite, running from Pasadena and Los Angeles to Long Beach. The boom has struck the Colony tract and nothing can suppress it. Call at the office of the California Cooperative Colony and obtain further information, and see maps and diagrams. Rooms 3 and 4, Newell block, W. Second st., Los Angeles.

Go and See the Colony Lands!

Prospective purchasers of land and town lots in the Coöperative Colony tract, desiring to visit the land, should take the 9:40 a.m. train from Los Angeles to Compton. At Compton they will be met by the colony's carriage, and conveyed to and over the tract, free of charge. Returning to the city, they will ride back to Compton in time for the incoming train. Call at the colony office before starting, and procure tickets for the carriage ride.

Rooms 3 and 4, Newell block, West Second street.

Sleeping In the Hall.

As was expected there came a rush of people to the office of the California Co-operative Colony, beginning Monday morning, to procure certificates for the selection of lots in Clearwater, Several parties slept in the hall sunday night. Certificates can still be had, free of charge. Sale will begin July 25th. Rooms 3 and 4, Newell block.

Notice

Is horeby given that the Kercheval tract is now subdivided, and will be placed on sale on Thursday morning at 8 a.m., at the office of Macquarrie, Sepulveda & Co., 113 South Spring street. THE San Gabriel Rapid Transit enterprise seems to be taking definite shape, and we may reasonably expect this electric line to be in operation in due time. The "city of Southern California" develops apace.

THERE's a new town laid out in the Santa Ynez Valley, bearing the eupho nious name, "El Olivar." It is a valley in which the olive tree flourishes and it lies beyond the mountain range that forms the background of Santa Barbara.

SAN FRANCISCO continues to have deaths from smallpox, but the papers of the city are not half as much exer cised over the fact as they were over tion or even with complacency, a movethe few deaths that occurred in Los ment which promises to do so much Angeles last spring. THE orange groves of Florida have astonished the natives by putting out a crop of blossoms this month. Orlando Sentinel says it is a surprise to the oldest inhabitants. ONE of the most active industries of building. There is an epidemic of it in every section, but all these new hostelries will be filled when the tide of immigration pours in, as it will a few onths later. Hotels are as necessary as harvests in this county, and they bring in as good a return.

GEN. H. V. BOYNTON asserts that the primary purpose of the President's verbose St. Louis letter was to cause a split in the Grand Army, and get the Democratic veterans to secode from the organization. But the old boys are too loyal for any such hope to prove suscessful. Cleveland Democracy is not what they are hungry for.

THE Washington Star hopes that Jacob Sharp will not die on the hands of the warden of the Ludlow-street jail. Aside from every consideration humane feeling for a broken-down old man, the death of the chief figure in the Broadway railroad scandal would probably, under the circumstances, be anfortunate in its influence on the prosecution of his partners in crime, and interfere with the cause of justice. Few if any of those who remain to be tried are above representing themselves as mortally ill, and thus working upon the sympathies of jurors already moved to answer for his crime with his life.

with John Daspreckels, which is briefly outlined in the dispatches, it would ap-pear that the proprietor of the new Australian steamship line looks favorably upon the proposition to land the Australian mails at San Diego and transport them across the continent by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé route. He says that the run from Auckland to San Diego can be made in 15 to 20 days, provided no stop were made at the Sandwich Islands. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé people claim that they can transport the mails across the continent in four days. This would give the time between Auckland and New York from 19 to 24 days, and an average of 26 to 30 days to London. This, Mr. Spreckels says, will discount the Canadian Pacific route so much that there is every probability of the adoption of the outhern line. Besides the accelerated transportation this route will enjoy the additional advantage of safety regularity, as the southern road is not subject to snow blockades.

It is very important for Southern California that this project carry. The simple question of transporting the mails—of securing them in competition with a foreign steamship and railway combination—is not the main point in issue, although that, of course, would be "a feather in our cap." But the feature of greatest importance to Southern California is that this is the entering wedge for direct ocean commerce. That the southern ports have so long been kept in the background as regards maritime trade is singular, when we come to think of it. They have always enjoyed the same geographical advantages, and they have long possessed rail outlets which should have commended them as distributing points. But the tendency of San Francisco to monopolize the trade and traffic of the coast, the power of her aggregated capital, the hold she had upon the western railway systems—these have all weighed in the balance against the natural and achave been sufficient to tip the beam. Now that transcontinental railroad ompetition has come in, San Francisco's charm is broken. Not only is it broken in the south but, also, in the north, and we may expect to see in operation within the next few years three important channels of traffic for maritime business. The middle route, torrid heat, so long continued, will lead via San Francisco, will doubtless maintain a prestige as the most important, but the northern and the outhern routes will gain immensely and, in time, will be no mean rivals of the central.

It is the inauguration of this new era in the commerce of the western world which the mail steamers to San Diego will figure in that gives interest to the situation. With this fast line in operation carrying mails, the passenger and freight traffic will not be slow in "catching on," and trade will beget trade.

One steamship line in successful operation will bring another, and soon the prestige of the port will be established.

It might be questioned why Los Angeles should regard with satisfacfor a rival city-if San Diego may be considered a rival. There is really no occassion for jeafousy in the premises. What helps San Diego must measurably help Los Angeles. San Diego may be considered, in fact, as one of of the wealth which flows therefrom.

It would, of course, be the first choice of Los Angeles that the Australian traffic should come by the way of San Pedro or Ballona, but, if these alter native propositions are not feasible, then San Diego furnishes a mighty good third.

The Assessment Rolls.

The county assessment rolls, which were completed by Assessor Mason yesterday, show some very satisfactory findings. The total value of outside property, with improvements, is placed at $44,700,514. Last year this item was $16,897,628, showing an increase of $27,802,886, or over 164 per cent. City and town property stands $38,681,276, against $14,275,242 in 1886, showing an increase of $24,406,034, or a little over 170 per cent. Thus it appears that the city and country have been neck and neck in the race, and both have forged ahead with unprecedented bounds.

Personal property does not show the same ratio of increase, but then the item is ridiculously small, as always Southern California just now is hotel happens to be the case about assess ment time. Cash in hand and in bank, and other items of personal wealth are and retiring in their habits that it is almost a wonder the Assessor gets a peep at them at all. DR. McGLYNN's anti-poverty scheme which sounds so attractive to the poor man, is not put into practical eration, as far as the Irreverend Father himself is concerned. His benevolent sympathies are altogether too general, and they have left him to entirely ignore the needs of an old uncle whom he allowed to die a pauper in the hos pital at Erie, Pa., after years of sufering and neglect. The philanthropy of such reformers is not good for much where it does not begin at home.

Saturday night a baby was born in a lodging-house, on the corner of Ducommon and Alameda streets, of white parents, as the lawyers have it. It had hardly made its presence known in this world of sin when its anxious father made a discovery that caused him to father made a discovery that caused him to leave the room in a towering rage. The little fellow's features, the color of its skin and its short, kinky hair proved conclusively that one of its parents, at least was a descendant of Ham. This enough to make the was enough to make the husband think his place was somewhere else, but, if report speaks the truth, the story does not end here. It is whispered around the house that a murder took place a few minutes after he left the room. At any rate, the child, who was perfectly healthy at the time of its birth, was quietlyburied. The woman who nursed the mother claims that she accidentally let the little innortunate drop to the floor, and it died a few minutes after. He has no idea for selling out to the Southern Pacific people; in fact, will entertain no proposition they can possibly advance. He proposes dividing up his ranch himself and administering on his own estate. I believe he is heart and soul in the Pomona and Elsinore Railway scheme. Work will heafing as soon as m the Foliana and Eisinore Latway scheme. Work will begin as soon as I make my report. Likely the first grading will be done at Pomona, but there is a probability that in order to push the road to rapid completion graders will go to work at four different points, one of which will be Elsisore.

Ex-Gov. Merrill, who is a heavy stockholder in the road and one of the prime movers in the same, is expected here this week or next. He is deter-mined to see the road through, as it will be a paying investment from the start. The grading is nothing difficult, the worst grade we shall encounter, and it is a short one, will be but seventy feet to the mile and it can be reduced to item foot I may independ there is to sixty feet. In my judgment there is but one way out of this valley, and that but one way out or this valley, and that is the way we have secured—down through the Temescal. Any other route I know of would be impractical, as it would necessitate a grade of at least 110 feet to the mile, and no company is going to build, maintain and operate any such a road. It would be financial suicide. The Pomona and El-sinore Railway will come to Elsinore."

THE BALL FIELD.

Another Ten-Inning Game—Eastern Nines Coming to the Coast.
Washington, July 20.—[By the Associated Press.] Ten innings were again necessary to decide the game between the Washington and Detroit teams today. The exhibition in the field by the home team was good, while that of the visitors was wretched. Burke, the new pitcher of the Detroits, made his first appearance today, but hardly proved a success. Score; Washington, 9; Detroit, 6.

in the Sobranje—Au Ex-Minister Arrested— Hostility to Prince Ferdinand Inng-Foreign Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

LONDON, July 20.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Parnell and many of his colleagues were entertained this evening at a banquet by the National Liberal Club. The health of the Queen was proposed by Dillon. The guests all rose and drank the toast. Parnell eulogized Gladstone, and wondered how long Englishmen would be contented to see the Government march up hill and down again. The English Liberals might be assured that their exertions would not be wasted. Although in Ireland extreme misery had been suffered during the past eight months, crime had diminished, and the people had turned to the constitutional methods of adjusting grievances, instead of physical force. If the Liberals et by the National Liberal Club. The instead of physical force. If the Liberals failed in their programme their great reward would be that they had reward would be that they had banished violence and outrage and revenge and had brought the nation to depend upon lawful methods of redress. The diminution of crime proved the gratitude of Ireland toward the Liberals, and he hoped that when oppression should be trampled upon the evicted would retaliate slowly. They should remember that the Tory Government could not last forever.

Lee Ah Chong and Wong Chung, two of the principal Chinese barbers on Mott street, are at war with each other on rates. The tonsorial art among the New York Chinese is something of a monopoly. Two years ago there was only one professional barber among 6,000 Chinamen. He made quite a fortune out of his trade, and a few months ago returned to China with quite a large bank account. The charge then was 75-cents for a shave and a queue braid, but the single barber's successhere soon reached the Golden Gate, and in a comparatively short time four more knights of the razor came and settled in Gotham Immediately a war of thed in Gotham. Immediately a war of rates began. From 75 cents the charge was reduced to 50 cents, and this rate was steadily adhered to by all the barbers until a few days ago, when it leaked out that Wong Chung, of No. 17 Mort street was secretly braiding this including a round shave of the head, fifteen minutes tickling of the ears and a shave under the eyelids.

Lee Ah Chong, his principal opponent on the other side of the street, yesterday hung out a big sign, upon flaming-red rice paper, with the following information:

The latter clause was what caught my eye and aroused my curiosity. Ascending the high, dilapidated stoops of 22 Mott street, I pushed open a pair of small, newly-made shutter-like doors, and there met Ah Chong face to

"I want a shave."
"All lightee," said the barber, smil-

"I want a shave."

"All lightee," said the barber, smilingly.

"You needn't braid my queue nor shave my head and, but go ahead with the balance of the programme."

This seemed to please the Professor immensely, especially when I told him that I would pay the same as if he had done the whole thing, as advertised.

Ah Chong opened a small drawer and took from it a handful of what looked like darning-needles, chopsticks, carpenters' tools and deutists' apparatus, ramrods and four mops, all made on a very small scale. He first picked out a fine steel lancet and a small handglass. The former he gently inserted deep in my ear. It felt as if a million of flies had got in there and all gone crazy at once. Ah Chong cried out at times, "Don't be scare." "No hurt you ear, "Oh, too much dirt." A curious shaped silken mop was now introduced in the ear in place of the lancet. He twirled the mop very quickly and made other funny motions with it, so that a string of very fine dust fell before me. The third instrument was a pair of very fine long steel pincers, used to take out any objects or hairs that the mop could not. Besides this it is used for the principal performance, which is the titckling of the ear internally. This was done by holding it in the ear so that the fine point barely touched the drum, while the prongs were gently pried open by the use of a stationary screw. The top point barely touched the drum, while the prongs were gently pried open by the use of a stationary screw. The top of this screw was then gently hit with a little steel hammer, the vibration thus produced sending a most charming sensation through the ear. The fourth instrument is a hair-remover, which is a fine, thin razor. This requires a very skillful man to handle properly, as it is nothing other than a regular shave of the ear from the interior. The fifth and last ceremony was the neatllittle sweep used to cleanse.

terior. The fifth and last ceremony was the neatlititle sweep used to cleanse. This part of the circus took just fifteen minutes. I was about to rise up and fish out my quarter, but the Professor bade me to sit still. More instruments were taken from more drawers, and the operation on my eyes begun. The right eye was carefully bathed with hot water, the upper lid gently turned upward, its inside carefully shaved with a fine razor, and a fine little bamboo brush applied to the eyelashes to straighten them. Then scratching very lightly the roots of the lashes and gently pinching the eyeball, the job was finished. Both the lids, under and upper, were treated alike.

the job was finished. Both the lids, under and upper, were treated alike.

My face was now washed in lukewarm water, with a dirty-looking towel as a sponge; after which my arms were bared. The barber took one of my hands in his right, while his left rested on my shoulder. He gave my arm two or three hard pulls, as if to see if the bones were properly put together, and then every finger was quickly pulled, so that each gave a loud snap that fairly made me lose my senses. It was done so quickly, yet so hard, that I really did not know that the five loud reports came out of my own five fingers. Ah Chong was about to proceed with my toes in the same manner, but I told him that I had business somewhere else which must be immediately attended to Wong Chung will norbably reduce. which must be immediately attended to. Wong Chung will probably reduce his rates to 15 cents a shave by tonight, and throw in a free lunch or a box of

From the assessment rolls, just completed by County Assessor Mason and his assistants, it will be noticed by those who will take the trouble to make a comparison of the figures from this year's assessment rolls and those of last year, that in nearly every item the wealth of Los Angeles county has increased to a remarkable extent. For instance: In the assessment rolls for 1886 the value of real estate, other than city or town lots, and the improvements on the same, is placed at $16,807,692. This year the total is $44,700,514, or an increase of $27,802,886. In 1886 the total value of city and town lots, with the improvements on the same, was returned as being $14,275,242. This year the returns show a value of $38,681,276, or an increase of $24,406,034. The following table comprises the principal figures as given in the assessment rolls

Merit Will Only Tell.

The sale of lots made by the San Gabriel Valley Land and Water Company, on Wednesday last, was unprecedented in the history of our county. The same enthusiasm prevailed yesterday as was exhibited the day before, and the sales were remarkable. This can not be wondered at, as no such property has ever been offered the public, considering the prices paid in Los Angeles county. The immense business already at this point is sufficient evidence to the enthusiastic purchasers that it is the place for stores, banks, warehouses, etc., to meet the demands of the people, being the center of the most productive agricultural district in Southern California, and in the direct path of the great freight and passenger traffic Setween the East and the West, and being in the hands of the strongest syndicate in the State of California. We predict that East San Gabriel will be one of the most flourishing cities in the valley.

Mesors. J. D. Bicknell, E. F. Kysor, D. G. Stevens, C. E. Day, F. A. Gibson and E. T. Wright, the owners of Los Angeles and Vernon Street Railway, will push the construction of the same and have the ears running at the earliest possible date. Their magnificent Central Park tract will be placed on sale Thursday, July 21st, at 10 a.m. They have arranged to place a telephone at the Kysor ranged to place a telephone at the Kysor residence so that purchasers who select their lots can report the sale to the general agents. Carriages will leave at 10 a.m. and at 2 p.m. daily for the tract, from the agents, Day Hunter & Mathes, No. 8 North Spring street.

A Corner on Clearwater.

P. K. Wood, of the firm of Hymer & Wood, 18 West First street, has managed to get a corner on the sale of lots in Clearwater, for next Monday morning, by getting together the first eight certificates, entitling the holder to ten lots each. Well done.

The boom in Burbank has never had a rival in Los Angeles county. Last week's safes were $20,200, and aggregate sales since March Istnearly a half million. Parties desirous of visiting this new town, by calling at No. 12 South Spring street will receive every attention and information desired.

One branch runs to Santa Monica, the other to Burbank. Both roads run directly past beautiful Melrose, and only two blocks distant. Lots selling fast from McCarthy's California Land Office, 23 West First street. Carriages at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., free.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thous DR. WILLIAMS. With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dro Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Thorat Diseases, Bronchitts, Asthma

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable rendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is sacreely free from one cold before he takes another, and oct he is always exceedingly careful; it as also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and threat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to expresse it is some of Catarrh may seem to expresse it is somewhat to expresse it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or signing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat: there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though retree these and many have been slow, and the patient may, find each of the cover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumption. Inhalatory or cans, and in consumption consumption on the consumption of catarrh end finally in consumption. for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharnyx and massi passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to makefuld applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same suc-

The old hunter was too weak to follow, and feeling death coming on, he pinned up the card that some other might investigate.

That he was aware of his approaching decease is indicated by the fact that on his table he left a card on which was written, "My dear sister. Louisa T. the Preighters on the Plains—The Lonely Oabin at the Redwoods.

[Oakland Tribane.]

This mornit, 'Health Officer Crowley held an autopsy on the body of old George Clinton Thesdale—'Mountain George.' He found that an aneurism of the aorts has so enlarged the walls of that vessel as to press out the ribs on the left side of the body. The Dursting of this, the largest bloods he cause of the old hunter's death. An unquest will be held this evening, and the funeral will take place as soon as deceased's sister, Mrs Blakesley, of National City, San Diego county, can indicate what disposition of the remains she desires.

In the meantime the Dody is a the morgue packed in ice Dogs in for a last look at the sharp features and long iron-gray beard. Seuberger, the dorst, sent a magnificent wreath of sowers to adorn the coffin. The hunter had been kind to Mr. Seuberger's family when they were camping in the hills, and the -old man will be given a "Christian burial," for which he made a last request.

A TRAPTER ON THE YELLOWSTONE.

The San Gabriel Valley LAND AND WATER CO.

Incorporated May 20th, 1887, with a Capital Stock of $1,600,-000, with the following Officers: H. H. Markham, President; L. W. Dennis, Vice-President; E. P. Johnson, Treasurer; A. L. Burbank, Secretary; F. L. Raymond, Superintendent and Manager. Directors: H. H. Markham, L. W. Dennis, C. H. Bradley, Having recently purchased the famous property known as the Ford, Titus, Gibbs, Ames, Bradbury, Clapp and Howard, more recently known as the Hall and Stillson Tract, have subdivided part of the above-named property into fine business and resident lots, also a great many one-acre villa tracts, and located a new town, East San Gabriel, ten miles from the many one-acre villa tracts, and located a new town, East San Gabriel valley, The cilizens of Los Angeles City and surrounding country are so well acquainted with the many advantages that East San Gabriel possesses over any other townsite haid out in the country, it will be unnecessary to enumerate the many advantages of the new town. The immense improvements contemplated by the Company consist of laying out San Gabriel Boulevard, about four miles long, running due north and south, connecting Lamanda Park with El Monte road; two other fine avenues crossing the San Gabriel Boulevard at right angles, known as Broadway and Grand Central; building a street-car line, hotel, piping water from the Titus place, which affords an inexhaustible supply, in connection with other improvements. The Southern Pacific Railroad have already given orders to build one of the finest depots in Southern California, warehouses, freight depot, etc. The freight shipment from this point has year being over 44,000,000 pounds, it is most conclusive evidence that it is the place for banks, stores, ware nouses, etc., where moneys invested in buildings of this kind will pay large dividends from the start. The property offered for sale, being located on either side of the railroad, makes the whole tract central and accessible to the business portion of the town. The Company now offer the property for sale upon the following liberal terms: One-third cash; deferred payments in one and two years at 8 per cent. per annum.

DEAR EDITOR—I am a very unhappy repperesentative man today. The obstickles of not knowing the langwidge, the changing of diet, the bother about baggage, and all of them things, is nothing compared to Mandy, and if it wasn't for the looks of it, I'd as leaf send her back home as not. That is to say of she would go, which I have my doubts. Monte Carlo done it all, too!

That dollar went out of stein a minute, and I began to hedge. Half an hour later I was strapped flat and was tryin't to borrow from the French lady, but she couldn't understand my English till I ast her to walk out to the caffay and have a saucer of ice cream, and she went with m. I was wonderin' how it was goin' to be paid for, and also coolin' my heated brow in the perfumed breezes from the sea and shore, when I heerd a dress skirt rattlin' behind me and a well known voice addressed me:

"Mr. Waxem," it said with a cold glitter, will you interduce me to the American minister was the French lady, that I didn't know from a side of sole leather? I think you will say it is

"Ah, my dear," I says very pleasant, almost hilarious, "is that you? So glad you air here. This lady is the minister's wife," and I winked at her to keep her mouth shut and not give me away.

But it was no go. She began her infernal French jabber again, and the next minute I had to grab Mandy and hurry her away to prevent a scene. Women never know how to

She kept this kind of talk up half the night, and when I sunk into an uneasy doze I heard it still like the distant growlin' of an angry and ruffled nightmare. We staid in Monte Carlo two nights, but there was nothing in it for me. I could hear the fun, and see where it was goin' on, but that was all, and I didn't even git a chance to win back what I lost the fust night.

He divided it up among everybody at the table, and then they all prayed that the prince would be lucky every time. It would have been a savin grace to me ef he had been there the night I was. But he wasn't. Mandy was there instid. I seen one little German that had won 400,000 francs, but he wasn't satisfied with that, and when he quit he had lost 500,000. he had lost 500,000. Some men, I think, air natural born fools. Mandy says she thinks that's the kind of a man I' am, but Mandy's jedgment is liable to be erratic at times.

Mr. Editor, I write you this letter from a convent near Genoa, where Mandy has took me for repairs. She wouldn't let me stop inside the French boundary, and I only got her to stop here because Christopher Columbus was born in this neighborhood, and she knowed that a repperesentative citizen of Ameriky that would stand a good deal would raise a righteous indignation if force was raise a righteous indignation if force was used to keep him from visiting the birthplace of the discoverer of the new land of prom-mis, the blazer of the path of libberty, so to speak, the patron saint of the greatest and grandest republic on God's green earth.

Mandy ain't a tyrant, exackly, but she has always had a predudis against France and French customs, and I ought to have knowed better than to provoke her twice on the same sile when she was already provoked on green. when she was already provoked on gen-oral principles.

Ime in a state of siege or quarantine or something of that kind, and am restricted of my libberties, but take my word for it, no congressman of experience ain't going to let his wife lead him round by the nose very long of there's any mild and harmless excitement laying around loose, and there is, Mr. Editor, in all these foreign lands.

I hope my next letter will be more descriptive, and less personal and domestic than this one and the last, but there's no telling what Mandy's going to do before she cools off.

I thought I had a good joke on Mandy about the Monte Carlo Missionary society, Saint Roulette, the Casino chapple, and all that sort of trash; and I had, but when she discovered my duplicity—what a word that is, Mr. Editor!—I became a changed man. Of course the first evening I had an engagement with the American minister, and slipping out early I followed the instructions I had got that night from the boys in Paris, and went straight for the Casino. I was showed right into the Sail de Jue, as they all the big room where the playing takes place, and the elegant surroundins almost took my breath. When I got Mandy out in the suburbs I tried to explain the situation to her by telling her I met the lady in the Sal de Jue, and, bein't a stranger, she had kindly volunteered to at as my guide and interpreter, but it wasn't any use.

Artificial Tropics.

In the belief that modern science can com mand climate, Dr. B. W. Richardson proposes that British invalids be given in their native isles the winter advantages of tropical resorts. This he would accomplish by establishing winter homes, or health palaces, each containing fifty or more comfortable two story houses, enclosing a large square of ornamental grounds, and provided with liberature. containing fifty or more comfortable two story houses, enclosing a large square of ornamental grounds, and provided with libraries, baths, gymnasiā, amusement halls, etc. Flower lined galleries, giving long promenades, would extend over the houses under glass roofs, while the central enclosure would be shut in by an immense arch of glass at a height above the ground. Suitable heating and ventilating apparatus would give an equable and scipustable temperature to all parts of the structures, and any desired character might be imparted to the climate. Even cloudy days need not be known, as electric acter might be imparted to the climate. Even cloudy days need not be known, as electric suns could be made to shine at pleasure. In many places winter resorts on a grander scale might be created by putting whole valleys under roofs of glass, forming parks of constant beauty and healthfulness.—Arkan-

CASTELLAMARE, Italy, July 2:

DEAR EDITOR: When I wrote to your valuable journal the last time I believe me and Mandy was engaged in a domestick infelisity with Mandy about four lenths a head, and me facarcerated, as it wair, in a convent cell near Genoa, undergoing retrenchment and reform. This letter is wrote from a villy I have rented for a week on the beautiful and charming bay of Naples, as a sort of peace offering to Manely and so far with very beneficial results. Life is getting to be almost as sersene and tranquil as if we had come down here on a sparkin spell and didn't expect to git married till next fall.

We come here in a hurry and I must go back and tell about the sights and scenes I have witnessed, but which my sad experiences in Paris and Monte Carlo made me torget before.

in Paris and Monte Carlo made me torget before.

Since leaving London I have seen the American flag, our grand and glorious star spangled banner, the bolting cloth through which liberty and patriotism comes pure and undefiled, but in two ways; one as a bitters advertisement stuck up at every railroad depo, and the other on an American ship laying up at Villyfranche, which I believe is one of our naval stations. As far as I can see the bitters people are doing a great deal more towards distributing the tricolored signal of freedom than our navy is. I didn't stop at Villafranche any longer than our train did, but I could look at that flag very plain, and I be doggoned if the poor thing didn't hang from that jibboom or top gallant or whatever they call it, just like its backbone had been drawed, and I felt ashamed of it for the first time in the whole coarse of my existents, public and private.

On the broad bosom of the Atlantic I had any stately steemers hearing on the bases of the start the saw stately steemers hearing on the largest desired the saw stately steemers hearing on the largest desired the same days stately steemers hearing on the largest desired the same days stately steemers hearing on the largest desired the same days the largest desired the same days that the same days the largest days and the largest days and the largest days are the largest days are the largest days and the largest days are the largest days and the largest days are the la

On the broad bosom of the Atlantic I had On the broad bosom of the Atlantic I had saw stately steemers bearin on the breeze the flags of England, of Germany, of France; on the beautiful blue waves of the Meditteranian (I never could spell that wor Mr. Editor) I had saw the flags of Italy, of Turkey, of Grease, of Russia, of Asia, and of Africy; in every harbor where ships raised their lofty masts towards the sky as graceful monuments to commerce and national power, I had saw all flags but my own, and Mr. Editor, my feelins can better be imagined than described in the brief limmits of this letter. To an ordinary citizen this state of affairs would be lumiliatin in the extreme; to the sensitive soul of a statesman it was a disgraceful reflection.

Personally I will state here that I am in ror of havin' a United States navy; but leially I will not commit myself until I ve consulted with my constituents in Waydel, I would, however, suggest to Mr. eveland and Mr. Whitney that ef we can't no better, we ought to rig out some boats the an engine and flag staff apeace and do ne foreign advertisin.

In Genoa, which I stopped at because I had been told by reliable men that Columbus was born there, I found out that there was a mistake. He wasn't born there at all, but at Cogoleto, a small town about fifteen miles down the railroad from Genoa. As trains run down there in half an hour or so, I reckon they considered Coroleto and Genoa as one place and took it all in when they made out their census reports, purty much like they do their census reports, purty much like they do in calculating population in our own liberal

It would be the materialization of a noble Columbus. I ain't rich, because I've only been in congress one term, but'I'll start the subcription with a hundred dollars.

Since leaving Marsailes I have been observing of the farming intrusts in sight along the route, and I am free to confess that there is a good deal of the Wayback style about it. They have to irrigate the sile, and the way they do it is to have wells with the old fashioned sweeps, just like ourn at home. I counted as many as a dozen in one small field. Further south they use a wheel with buckets, and a donkey to keep it moving. The differents between the sweeps and the wheel is that a woman handles the sweep. Mandy called my attention to this fact, but Idid not discuss the matter with her. As I did not discuss the matter with her. As between donkeys and women, my experient of the last few days mostly inclines me put my trust in donkeys. The donkey is pa-tient; it don't talk back; it tends to its own business; it don't set up at nights waitin for its master; it is easy satisfied; it aint jeal-ous; it never complains, and it aint eternally finding fault with a man because he aint as good as a donkey is. Sence landin in England I have been lookin out for the corn crop, but until I becam to grit good as a donkey is.

Sence landin in England I have been lookin out for the corn crop, but until I begun to git purty nigh down to the heel of Italy I ain't seen a stalk wuth mentionin, and this ain't hardly wuth it. This ain't a corn country, which explains to some extent the depreciated and degected condition of the elixior of life in this benighted land, where I have frequently saw it spelled on bill of fares at restorants, thus, to wit: Wisky. What Italy needs is a higher eddication, and I can see it plainer every day I am heere. In this regard they don't even seem to know the rudaments. The corn they raise is little, runty stuff about five foot bigh, and it would take a half dozen of tifeir nubbins to make a ear of corn like we raise. I'd bet the coat off my back, that if a ship load of American corn was shipped here in the ear, they'd think it was cord wood or railroad ties.

Another needcessary of life that es lackin is long green. I haven't land a good consolun chaw of terbacker sence I left the ship that brought us over. In England I couldn't chaw because there wasn't any spittoon; and in this country, where they have a few boxes filled with sand settin around picter galeries, art centers, and hotel halls, I can't find the terbacker. They sell a manufactured article, but after seeing a dirty lookin citizen prowin around the gutters at night with a lantern looking for stumps of segars to sell to factories I'd about as soon suffer in silence. These night stumpers air found in every city, and they mind me more of buzzards than anything else. My only comfort is in segars, and you cught to see an Eyetalian segar! The government has a monopoly on the making, and the goods they turn out is like the average monopoly. They look like they were made out of a piece of warty dog skin, and they are as hard as a last week's softa bis-uit, and as crooked as a bad boy with the collick. Some of them air made with a flue, and ef a man hain t anything else to think about he can git one smoked up between meals. But a look and they are as hard of a become and they are as hard as a last week's softa bis-uit, and as crooked as a bad boy with the collick. Some of them air made with a flue, and ef a man hain t anything else to think about he can git one smoked up between meals. But a look are constanted the soft and they are as hard as a last week's soft a bis-uit, and they are as hard as a last week's soft a bis-uit.

And give the whole country a boom.

Mr. Editor, with these few remarks of n poetical character, suggested by Mandy, who is gitting the poetic fever since she has been residing in a villy on the blue crescent shored bay of Naples, where the mountains wair the purple haze of distants, and the blue canopy of the heavens sees its own image in the dancin waves of the Meditteranian, I will close this letter. The streets are graded, water piped, shade trees, and five-foot cement sidewalks are being put in front of every lot.

Waterloo is between two street-car lines. two blocks from one, 400 feet from the other, and the entire tract is but a little distance from two cable lines.

The lands of the International Company of Mexico comprise the fertile district known as the northern or upper half of the peninsula of Lower California. Commencing at the line infreen miles south of San Diego in the United States, near parallel 22 north latitude, the Company's property extends southward a distance of 300 miles, having the Pacific Ocean upon one side and the Gulf of California on the other. The valleys are deep and frequent, and from the altitude of the mountains receive a greater amount of moisture than the country further north. Springs and running streams are abundant. The soll in the valleys is very fertile, and, as a rule, the latter is fringed with the dark, loose loam so good for frult-culturand the strong, red sold been obtained in cultivating the grape for ruleins and for wine the strong of the sold been obtained in cultivating the grape for ruleins and for wine. The mountains are heavily timbered with pine at a distance of three miles from the coast. Corn has been raised upon the Maneadero, near Ensenada, this season, where, in two months from the time of planting, the stalks were from fourteen to eighteen feet in height. Fruit trees planted last spring have prospered and some will be bearing next year. Corn, wheat, barley and all the cervals can be raised here, as can the sugar cane, tobacco, cotton, grapes, oranges. figs, bananas, limes, pomegranates, cocoanuts, pineapples, lenons, peace es and apricots, as well as the apple and pear of the temperate zone. Un the hillsides there is good grazing for horses, cattle, sheep and goats the entire year, and the cahons are timbered with liveonks.

The cucallyptus tree of Lower California grow for the send. The orange on the lower half of the peninsula, originally transplanted from Spain, is finer than the celebrated navel. It is estimated that pineapples will give a profit of 800 per acre. Waterloo is close in---less than two miles from center of city.

Waterloo lots are all high, and command a splendid view of the ocean, mountains, Game is abundant, the California quall being seen in myriads, also other wild fowl in the season, while antelope and deer frequent the heads of the valleys. valley and city.

Less desirable hill property has lately been sold at auction for $1500 to $2000 a lot.

BEES, FLOWERS, HONEY.

So thickly are the lands covered with blossoms of various wild illowers, clover, etc., that honey can be produced in any quantity marketable. A single town near the Company's lands shipped in one season 2,070,000 pounds. The wild bees have taken such possession of this land of flowers that the settlers will find an abundance of sweetening at their very doors. Not only are hollow trees and clefts in rocks tenanted, but eaves of buildings in town are preëmpted Near Ensenada one single body of wild honey is said to measure six feet in length by two in width and over 100 different swarms are reputed to occupy portions of the little hill where it is stored. We noticed that the hives or boxes around the settlers' habitatious had been, many of them, overturned by cattle, the contents having been hitherto evidently beyond the means of transportation. If you fail to see the Waterloo tract you miss the best opportunity ever yet offered to purchase property that is really first-class in every respect, and at prices within the reach of all. A peculiarity of Lower California is the number of groves of liveoaks lining its val-leys. These trees are said to equal, and even surpars, those of Louisiana. Peninsula mahogany, which makes very good veneering, is used at Ensenada for fire-

House-building is being pushed very rapidly, yet we must say that not half enough of it is being done. Houses to rent are a very scarce article on the market, and any one having such take great pride in renting the same for $25 to $30 per month, when under other circumstances $10 to $15 would be considered a large price.

The following gentlemen were installed as officers of the Central Labor Union, Monday night, by Past President T. J. Wilson: A. L. Beach, president; W. A. De Coe, vice-president; J. J. Gee, secretary; J. H. Vaughn, treasurer.

There are two lucky men in town, who were the possessors of Louisiana lottery tickets. No. 46,167 drawing $500 for J. D. Thornton, and No. 11,607 drawing $15,000 for W. W. Holcomb.

The assessment roll was completed Monday, and amounts to the grand sum of $15,937,995. In consideration of this amount, the expenses of the county can be raised at a very low rate of taxation.

The drawing of lots in the Morse subdivision is over. D. J. Perkins and Wozencraft & Douglas, were the lucky ones, the former getting $1000 and the latter $2000 in gold, in addition to their lots.

A moter road is projected to Harlem and Robles Springs and the Highlands, with $20,000 worth of stock already subscribed. This must certainly become a paying investment, as the greater part of pleasure-riding is done in this direction. W. A. L.

WITH A CHANCE OF GETTING ONE HOUSE WORTH $1000, ONE HOUSE

REECE'S ADDITION adjoins the beautiful town of Oceanside on the northeast, one half mile from the beach, just far enough to be protected from the cool winds off the ocean, but commanding a beautiful view of the water, making it the most delight-ful and destrible point for residence.

The addition lies three or four hundred yards east of the Oceanside Water Company's pipe-line, and the company agrees to put water upon the tract as soot as

OCEANSIDE is destined to be the Cape May and Long Branch of the Coast. It is situated on the California Southern Railroad, forty miles north of San Diego. Grading has aiready began en the Santa Ana branch out of Oceanside, making this the junction of the two roads. It is also the terminus of the San Diego Central, and is on sur-of the two roads. It is also the terminus of the San Diego Central, and is on surveyed route of Southern Pacific, and is rapidly building up. There are now some six or seven hundred inhabitants and about fifty places of business.

There are now two good hotels in operation and a new one nearly completed, which will cost, without furniture, in the neighborhood of $30,000. Plans for a still larger and finer one are now in the hands of the architect. A large two-story brick, 100 feet square and two stories, is now under construction for a bank, on the corner of Hill street, and about five minutes' walk from the addition.

Work will begin on the wharf the coming week. It is to be 1500 feet long, with 35 feet of water at low tide. It is to cost $30,000, and all the stock is taken. A syndicate of Eastern capitalists has bought all the water at Monsaratt and Pala, and are at work now piping the cool mountain water into the tewn of Oceanside, and the pipe-line will cross or puss very near to the addition.

cross or pass very near to the addition. Reece Bros. bind themselves to build the above-asscribed houses ready to hand the key to the lucky owners in the distribution at the same time with the deed. For further particulars and maps inquire of

Port Ballon

The Future Harbor of Southern California.

THIS IS THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE CALIFORNIA CENTRAL RAILROAD, OF THE ATCHIson, Topeka and Santa Fé system, who are under contract to lay five miles of sidetracks at this point by July 10, 1887—the shortest railroad line between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. PORT BALLONA is situated on Santa Monica Bay, only thirty minutes' ride by rail from the City of Los Angeles, with trains to begin running every three hours in the day early in July. Property can be purchased now at a much lower figure than when railroads and steamships are brought together. PORT BALLONA has two main avenues, one 100 feet and one 80 feet wide, with all other streets 60 feet. Residence lots are 50x150, and business lots 25x100 and 25x150 feet. The residence property is at an elevation of from 50 to 75 feet above tide-water, thus affording a most magnificent view, extending from Point Duma to the San Jacinto Mountains, and from the San Bernardino Mountains to Santa Catalina Island, in the Blue Pacific, and with a Beach unsurpassed on the Coast.

The Beautiful Lake of Ballona

Is one of the greatest features of the place, affording, at all times, a perfectly safe and pleasant place for Sailing and Boating of all kinds, and teeming with Fish and Water Fowl.

There is also a never-failing Spring of Pure Sulphur Water, and both sulphur and salt water bath-houses are already in course of construction.

Water will be delivered in iron pipes in front of each lot under good pressure.

Lots are now on sale, and maps and all other information can be obtained from
